the first, the longest and the best of modern English detective novels" rightly goes to Collins's "Moonstone," which depicts in depth the procedures of a London police detective at work on a murder investigation:

searching for clues, interrogating suspects, sifting evidence, even re-enacting the crime.

And not resorting to divine revelation, excessive sanguinity,

To really appreciate architecture,
you may even need to commit a murder.

The High Window 1947

Architecture is defined by the actions it witnesses as much as by the enclosure of its walls. Murder in the Street differs from Murder in the Cathedral in the same way as love in the street differs from the Street of Love. Radically.
